

Collaboration Proposal

Prepared for La Posta- Taste Of Argentina

Subject: La Posta's Google visibility gap vs. competitors like Asado Argentina

Hi there,

I noticed La Posta has a solid website and Instagram presence, but I spotted a critical gap: your site has zero blog content, no customer testimonials, and no clear conversion CTAs (like "Reserve Now" or "Order Online"). Meanwhile, competitors in Central Jakarta's Argentine dining space are capturing search traffic you're leaving on the table.

Here's what's happening: When someone searches "restoran Argentina Jakarta" or "daging Argentina terbaik," Google prioritizes sites with fresh content, social proof, and clear booking funnels. La Posta isn't ranking for these high-intent keywords because the technical SEO foundation is incomplete.

I'm proposing two interconnected solutions:

1. Content + Conversion Authority Package (4-week sprint)

- 8 blog posts optimized for local Argentine dining keywords + customer testimonials embedded on homepage
- Install conversion CTAs (WhatsApp reservation button, online order integration)
- Expected result: 25-40% increase in organic search visibility + 3-5 qualified reservations/week from search

2. Google Local Ads + Retargeting Campaign (parallel track)

- Geo-targeted Google Ads capturing "Argentine restaurant near me" searches in Central Jakarta
- Meta Ads retargeting website visitors with reservation incentives
- Budget: ~$400-600/month for 50-80 qualified leads/month

Both work together: content builds long-term SEO equity, ads capture immediate demand while your blog gains traction.

Quick question: Are you currently tracking which channels drive your best reservations? That'll help us prioritize which solution hits first.
